

Job 16

1. Job continues his criticism of his friends by saying what about them in verse 2?
 - a. How is this rhetoric intensified in verse 20?

2. Interestingly, though Job has been more wordy than his friends:
 - a. Of what does he (again) accuse them in verse 3?

 - b. And, with respect to the use of words, what does Job say that he could do to or for them if they were in his condition? (4)

 - c. In verse 5, what did Job say that he would have done for his friends if they were in his condition?

3. Job's grief continued through what two actions? (6)

4. Verses 7-14 alternate between what (Job had wrongly concluded) that God had done and was doing to him, and what others (his friends and critics) were doing to him.
 - a. List the things that Job attributed to God:

 - b. List the things that Job attributed to humans:

5. What did Job say that he had “sewn” to his skin? What does he likely mean by this statement?

6. The word “horn” (v. 15) likely means personal strength or honor, or as some translate it, “head.” Where had Job laid his head?

7. What had happened to Job’s face? Why?

8. Job continues to maintain his faith and integrity:
 - a. How so in verse 17?

 - b. How so in verse 19?

9. As Job had earlier requested (13:19), what type of help does he request in verse 20?
 - a. Thought Question: Under the Gospel dispensation, Who serves in this capacity? (see 1 Tim. 2:5 for help)

10. What is the “way” or “path of no return?”
